DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

In response to the remarks filed on 3/11/03, Claims 1-21 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 11 and 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Exactly how the Applicant arrives at the result wherein the same amount of scrolling is required to view the question portion on the first workstation display device and the other workstation display device is essential to make and use the invention and is not reflected in Claims 11, 14. Exactly how the Applicant arrives at the result of wherein the first test item appears the same size on the first display and the second display and wherein the test items appear the same size on the first display and the second display is essential to make and use the invention and is not reflected in Claims 13 and 16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Martinez et al. (U.S. 5,211,564). The rejection from the previous office action is maintained and is incorporated herein by reference.

1. [Claim 1]: Regarding Claim 1, Martinez discloses storing test content in a memory system, the test content (i.e. figures) including at least a question portion (i.e. question stem) and a response portion (i.e. response area). See Col.3: 39-46, Col.3: 63- Col.4: 4 and Col.4: 22-29. Martinez discloses capturing at least a portion of the test content in a test item image. See Col.3: 51-56. Martinez discloses overlaying a response control (i.e. tools) over the test item image, the test item image and response control together defining a test item. See Col.4: 39-47. Martinez discloses presenting the test item to respondent at the first workstation for electronically generating a response from the test item. See Col.3: 56-58. Martinez discloses test item images being in graphic form (i.e. bitmaps and/or coordinates for vector graphics). In Claim 1, Applicant does not disclose capturing a question portion and a response portion in a test item. Instead, Applicant discloses capturing at least a portion of the test content in a test item image.

2. [Claim 2]: Regarding Claim 2, Martinez discloses the step of receiving through the first workstation a response electronically generated by the respondent. See Col.3: 58-59.

3. [Claims 3, 5]: Regarding Claims 3 and 5, Martinez discloses the step of storing the test content further comprises positioning in at least one file the question portion, the response portion and an illustration portion and wherein the step of capturing comprises electronically capturing the test item image. See Col.3: 67-Col.4: 4.

4. [Claim 6]: Regarding Claim 6, Martinez discloses wherein the step includes storing test content that includes a text portion (i.e. textual statement) and an illustration. See Col.4: 22-28.

5. [Claim 7]: Regarding Claim 7, Martinez discloses overlaying a navigation control that is presented to the respondent for enabling for enabling the respondent the respondent to navigate forward or backward to other test items. See Col.4: 64-Col.5: 5.

6. [Claim 8]: Regarding Claim 8, Martinez discloses wherein the response control comprises at least one device (i.e. mouse) selecting one of a plurality of response options. See Col.3: 39-48.

7. [Claim 9]: Regarding Claim 9, Martinez discloses wherein the response control is selected from a group consisting of a radio box, a check box, a text box, an electronic drawing box, a drop and drag (i.e. move object) overlay, and a hot spot overlay. See Col.4: 39-41.

Art Unit: 3714

8. [Claim 10]: Regarding Claim 10, Martinez discloses wherein a plurality of question portions and response portions are captured in a single test item. See Col.4: 22-25.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martinez in view of Loiacono (US 6,042,384). The rejection from the previous office action is maintained and is incorporated herein by reference.

[Claim 4]: Regarding Claim 4, Martinez does not disclose expressly wherein the step of capturing comprises printing and then electronically scanning the test content.

However, Loiacono teaches electronically scanning test content in Col.1: 46-49.

Printing would inherently take place prior to scanning. Therefore, at the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate into the method and system of Martinez printing and then electronically scanning the text content, in light of the teaching of Loiacono, in order to provide a way to administer test content online.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martinez.

[Claim 12]: Regarding Claim 12, Martinez does not disclose expressly displaying the first item on a second display having a second resolution larger than the first resolution, wherein the same number of pixels is used to display the first test item on the first display and on the second display. However, at the time of the invention, it would have been an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that it would have been an obvious matter of design choice as to how many pixels to use to display a test item on a first display and on a second display wherein no stated wherein no stated problem is resolved or unexpected result obtained by using the same number of pixels to display a test item on a first and second display.
